1st Day Closing Keynote Lecture
The Eurozone Debt Crisis: Possible Scenarios of Recovery
Professor Alojzy Z. Nowak, Ph.D.
Professor – University of Warsaw, Poland

Keynote Overview:
According to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), the Eurozone debt crisis was the greatest threat in 2011. The debt crisis started in 2009 and got worse in 2012. Most of the crisis stemmed from default on debt from Greece, Portugal, Italy, Ireland, and Spain, though they all ended up with bailouts from the European Central Bank. Nonetheless, the crisis still exists and as recently as 2018 new issues such as USA tariffs might add to the crisis. What are the solutions to the Eurozone debt crisis? This keynote provides a detailed analysis of the Eurozone after 20 years of existence and offers potential solutions to the financial crisis of the European Union.

Main Topics:
• Eurozone after 20 years of existence
• Is debt a permanent issue in the Euroland?
• Possible scenarios of recovery
